

Essential Health Equity, Diversity & Inclusion Resources

The American Hospital Association along with the support from other national partners and stakeholders has led the nation's hospitals and health systems in advancing equitable care for all persons. Research has shown that improvements in health equity can provide tremendous value to patients, hospitals and the health care delivery system. In 2015 the #123forEquity Campaign to Eliminate Health Disparities urged hospitals to commit to four foundational strategies. Those strategies are noted below along with accompanying resources to enable organizations to refresh their commitment or initiate steps to advance health equity in their communities.

The Collection and Use of Patient Data

By collecting and stratifying patient data, hospitals and care systems can identify which health care disparities exist—and then target interventions to address the disparities. This involves collecting race, ethnicity, language preference and other socio-economic data.

■ Tackling Health Equity: A Two-Part Podcast for Trustees (July 2020)

This two-part podcast discusses the health equity challenges that board members can expect to encounter and how best to tackle them. Part one covers data that should be included in board reports and dashboards to improve visibility of the issues of inequity.
